Dedication

Mr. Gerald Cox

The Class of 1970 presents the dedication of its Ainodelac to Mr. Gerald Cox. Following his graduation from Canastota High School, Mr. Cox attended the University of Notre Dame where he received his bachelor of arts in economics. After completion of a tour of duty in the United States Army that encompassed the Philippine Islands and Thailand, Mr. Cox did graduate work at Syracuse University, Geneseo State Teachers College, and Oswego State Teachers College. Five years ago Mr. Cox came to Caledonia-Mumford and joined the faculty as a teacher of social studies.

Mr. Cox's charismatic personality and quick wit have won over many an unruly student. Noted for sparking his classroom lectures with snatches of dry humor, Mr. Cox has achieved a comfortable level of rapport with all those he has touched. His room has long been a haven for the emotionally troubled rather than for those with scholastic woes. Mr. Cox's straightforward approach to various topics of conversation causes each individual to soon lose his inhibitions and to express his own ideas.

In short, Mr. Cox is a man who captivates young people at the same time as he educates them.

During football season, Mr. Cox's room provides a relaxing atmosphere in which the players can unwind.

He is a man whose very presence exercises control over the classroom . . .

. . . and whose greatest vice is the feeling of security which he attaches to his thermos of coffee.

Mr. Cox is unafraid to "deal" with students on their own ground.

The Class of 1970 extends its Ainodelac in appreciation of Mr. Edward Matthews—teacher, coach, friend.

Mr. Matthews received his primary education from Union Springs Central School from which he was graduated a letterman in football, basketball, and baseball in 1948.

At the conclusion of a four-year stint in the United States Navy, Mr. Matthews attended Alfred University where he majored in history. Shortly after his graduation in 1959, Mr. Matthews obtained a position with Caledonia-Mumford Central School as a teacher of social studies at the junior high level. In addition to this, eight of his ten years at CMCS were spent as the varsity football coach.

Many students might say that they identify with Mr. Matthews, for, although he is involved in a profession worthy of respect, he does not place himself on a pedestal above his classes. During the painful formative years of twelve and thirteen, Mr. Matthew's good-natured ribbing teaches young people to laugh at themselves, an invaluable lesson to learn before mounting the steps to high school.

Like any other human being, Mr. Matthews has his "bad days", but, invariably, throughout the course of them, he will still find something over which to chuckle.

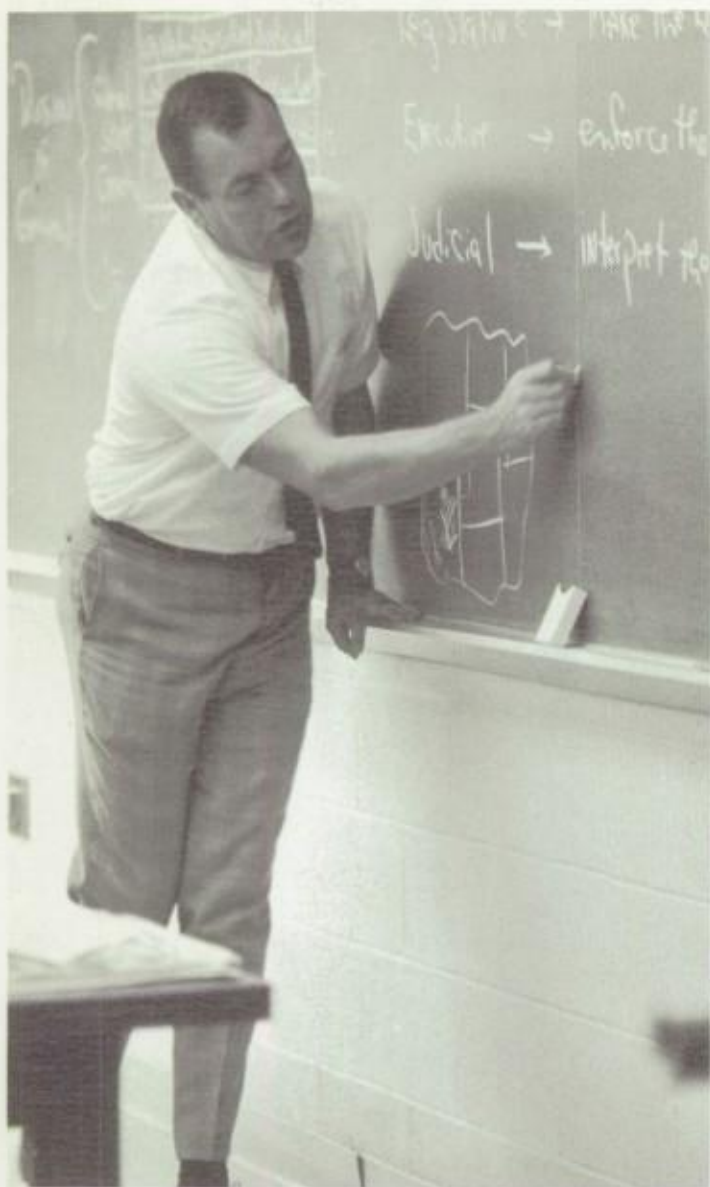

The most satisfying characteristic possessed by Mr. Matthews is his loyalty, for once one has cultivated him as a friend, he will do everything in his power to assure one's success. Mr. Matthews' concern runs the gamut from a glowing college recommendation to a thoughtful visit at the time of a family bereavement.

It can be simply stated that he is a gentleman.

Mr. Edward Matthews

Appreciation

His day begins with the clarification of an ambiguous statement . . .

. . . and the firm disciplining of a rowdy student.

"Did I ever tell you about the time . . .?"

"Alone, at last!"

In Memory

Douglas LaFave, a member of the class of 1971, was an enterprising young man whose ambition it was to attend college and major in industrial psychology. Reading adventure stories and psychology books numbered among his favorite pastimes.

Doug's amiable personality drew people to him. His friendly manner always seemed to exude warmth. The ease with which Doug related to people enabled him to successfully maintain a part-time job at Rich's Paint Store as well as participate in sports at school. Doug was greatly interested in athletics of the individual. In his freshman year he won a junior varsity wrestling letter in the 127-pound class. Doug's sophomore year saw his physical stamina stretched nearly to the breaking point when he was the 2-mile runner for the CMCS track team. In addition to his athletic regimentation at school, Doug worked out regularly with weights on his own.

Another love of Doug's was cars. He was often seen just driving around town in his mother's '63 Chevy.

Words tend to echo hollowly when they attempt to soothe the pain of emptiness in the grieving hearts of relatives. All that we can say is that we deeply feel the loss of a dear friend.

In Tribute

Mrs. Mildred Shaffer began her teaching career at Westmoreland Central School in February, 1945. She had obtained her bachelor degree from the State University of New York at Albany. From 1946 to 1953, Mrs. Shaffer taught at Rushford Central School. At this time, she returned to Albany to earn her Masters degree in education.

In September, 1955, Mrs. Shaffer joined the CMCS faculty. For fourteen years, she taught business, and became one of several faculty stalwarts to withstand the weathering effects of time. Mrs. Shaffer was also instrumental in the production of the Ainodelac and the publication of the Newsblazer. Her superb management of the business affairs of the school's yearbook and newspaper unburdened members of the editorial staffs, enabling them to rise to greater heights of creativity.

Last June, Mrs. Shaffer was forced to retire from teaching because of illness. Her departure has left a regrettable void in CMCS' staff.

Advisers

Mrs. Carole Koch, Mr. George Mulcahy, Miss Rita Therolf, Mr. Carlos Hevia.

Webster defines the word class as "a body of students or alumni whose year of graduation is the same." We, the members of the class of 1970, hold testimony that Mr. Webster has barely touched the surface of the word's meaning. Through the warmth of intimate communication and shared academic and social experiences, we have delved into one another's hearts and established bonds of friendship that will last a lifetime.

Although others had told us that senior year would be the finest, the expectation of our new status was but a mere shadow of the actual enjoyment we derived from it. Our title itself acted as a binding force, causing each of us to drop his mask of pretense and join into a unit based on mutual trust.

The parade of succeeding "last" events—our last football game, our last pep rally, our last dance—though tinged with sadness was the culmination of our high school careers. In our opinion, we missed nothing along the way.

Valedictorian

John Sickles

John Sickles has been announced as the Valedictorian of the Class of 1970. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sickles of Main Street, Mumford.

John has distinguished himself remarkably in the field of music as a five-year member of the Senior Band and a four-year member of the Senior Chorus. Upon reaching his last year of high school, John was elected vice-president by each organization.

A perennially mild-mannered young man, John attracts many people by his even-tempered personality. An inherent profundity shines through John's words despite his soft-spoken expression.

As a Regents Scholarship winner, John hopes to attend Ithaca College where he plans to research a field of biological science.

Salutatorian

Mary Ellen Connor

Mary Ellen Connor has been named the Salutatorian of the Class of 1970. Mary Ellen, the daughter of Mrs. Harold Connor and the late Mr. Connor, resides on Main Street, Caledonia.

A talkative, vivacious person, Mary Ellen has never ceased to amuse her classmates. Although she has held few offices, her leadership qualities have served to operate many organizations behind-the-scenes.

Possessing a literary-oriented mind, Mary Ellen has made countless contributions to the editorial staff of the Newsblazer, and as editor-in-chief, she has ramrodded the Ainodelac to an exceptionally praiseworthy position within the high school scheme.

Mary Ellen plans to attend Cornell University following graduation, and to utilize her Regents Scholarship in a medical vein.

As the Class of 1970's term as seniors draws to a close, it would like to pay final tribute to the administration and faculty. They did not turn a deaf ear to our requests for change, but instead guided our efforts notable results of which were the first Homecoming and the institution of a student lounge. We feel that these people should be applauded for their understanding and open-mindedness. These two qualities transformed our role as students from that of drab monotony to total involvement. We thank them for their confidence in us.

In keeping with the fine CMCS football tradition, the Red Raiders once again put out to their mental and physical capacities for nearly three months and came just short of walking away with the Livingston County Championship. Largely a young squad, they displayed experienced ball-handling on the grid to prove the misgivings of many armchair analysts as a bit premature. A 7-1 record was the product of their determination.

Displaying iron wills and nerves of steel, co-captains Tom Bonacquisti and Tom Krenzer instilled respect rather than affection in the hearts of their fellow players. The result was another winning season for the Raiders.

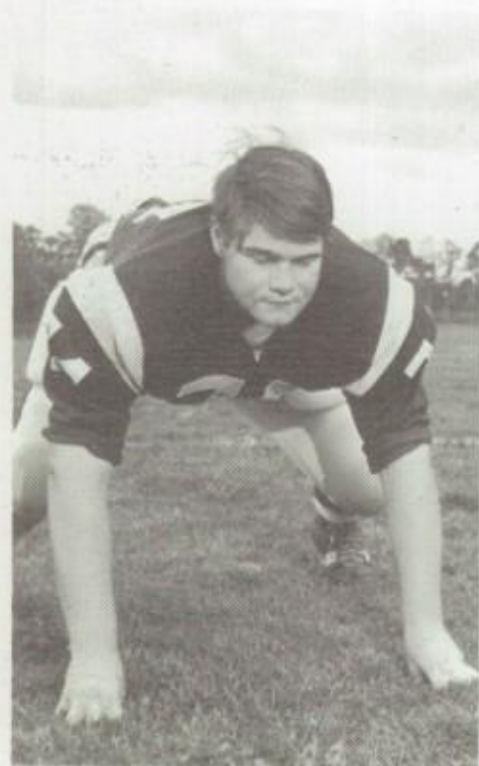

Co-captain Tom Krenzer was awarded honorable mention on the Greater Rochester All-Star Team as an offensive right tackle. He also won this position on the Livingston County All-Star Team.

The Chronicle of Endurance

C.M.C.S.—21

Letchworth—6

The Red Raiders' anticipation of the opening game hit a fever pitch before a customarily enthusiastic home crowd, but they were soon to be shocked into the realization that they had to prove themselves when an early TD pass put Letchworth in the lead. However, a Rick McEwen fumble recovery on the 16 yard line was the setup for a Mike Freeman run for the TD. Jim Price's PAT put the Raiders ahead. Price added another score and the Raider victory was climaxed when Greg Buckley hit pay dirt and Duke Tiberio's conversion was good.

C.M.C.S.—8

York—6

York has always given the Raiders a rough game and this year was no exception. The first half proved to be a bruising see-saw game dominated by the defensive squads. The same brand of football continued until early in the fourth quarter when York took a 6-0 lead. Bob Nothnagle blocked the kick for the PAT. Incensed at themselves for allowing the TD, the Raiders began a victory march, marked by hard running by the backs, good blocking from the line and pinpoint passing, which ended in a Steve Bartalo TD and PAT with one minute left in the game.

C.M.C.S.—6

LeRoy—0

Departing from the schedule existent for the previous four years, the Raiders were forced to work harder in order to meet the Oatkan Knights at mid-season. Although the Raiders dominated the action with vicious blocking and tackling, their efforts were fruitless as a penalty resulted in a TD being called back in the first half. Despite a pass interception in the second half by Tom Krenzer, the team was forced to cough up the ball in LeRoy territory. Krenzer and McEwen then thwarted a fourth down try by bowling over the ball carrier and regaining control with two minutes remaining. Hard-nosed running by sophomore Pete Cochran resulted in our winning TD with 45 seconds to go.

C.M.C.S.—0

Avon—20

Whether CMCS was still basking in the previous week's glory or was looking ahead to an undefeated Geneseo will never be known, for the fact remains that the Avon Braves took the Raiders unawares. The only Raider offensive threat was nixed by a goal line fumble. In the closing minutes of the half, bad luck continued to haunt the Raiders as a fourth down penalty gave Avon the needed yardage to make it first and goal to go and eventually score. Penalties and fumbles continued to plague our team in the second half whereas Avon added insult to injury with 2 more TD's.

C.M.C.S.—41

Livonia—0

Although the Raiders ran roughshod over the Bulldogs, the halftime score was not indicative of this as Raider miscues held the score to 12-0 behind the TD's of Steve Bartalo and Dave Sickles. Returning after halftime inspired anew, Raider backs Freeman, Buckley, and Price crashed through the Livonia line for three more TD's. QB John Roberts tossed the only TD pass of the season to Dennis Covey to consummate the Raider triumph.

C.M.C.S.—22

Geneseo—13

With the Northern Division title at their fingertips, not to mention their desire to avenge last year's defeat, the Raiders had a lot at stake when they faced the Blue Devils. Geneseo's initial score soon dropped into oblivion when, following a path mowed by guards Mike Miller and Tom Bonacquisti; Freeman scampered in for the TD and PAT. Minutes later Bartalo followed suit. Although disappointed when Geneseo's second half score clinched the division on a point basis, the Raiders continued their offensive drive till the end and Cochran's TD.

C.M.C.S.—24

Dansville—0

Versatile ball-handling was the hallmark of the Raiders when they met the Mustangs and severely dealt them a shutout. A Cochran gallop and a Sickles quarterback sneak were the high points of the relentless Raider attack for a 16-0 lead at the half. Because of the impenetrability of the Raider defense, the offensive unit controlled the action for the remainder of the game and for another score by Mike Freeman.

C.M.C.S.—14

Canisteo—0

Although the game was viewed by many as an anticlimatic end to the season, the Red Raiders were careful not to enter it overconfidently. Despite the hampering effects of mud and water that blanketed the home field, the Raiders easily rolled over Canisteo. The quick movements of QB Dave Sickles caught the opposition off guard and, accompanied by Cochran's PAT, put CMCS on the boards. Later in the second period a Freeman TD wound up the scoring of the game and of another victorious season of which the Raiders have to be proud.

This year the Caledonia-Mumford J.V. squad once again displayed its showmanship on the gridiron. A determined LeRoy battalion that sought revenge for its older counterpart's defeat the previous week was the only barrier between the Raiders and the league title. The mountain-like defensive line held five of its eight opponents scoreless while the yardage gained by the fleet-footed offense dwarfed that of the opposition. The result was the compilation of a fine 7-1 record.

Spurred on by the example set by co-captains Mike Shelton and John Harmon, the J.V.'s ground out victory after victory.

On the heels of a Section V wrestling championship in 1969, the CMCS matmen had difficulty finding an encore. Following the achievement of a spotless 13-0 record, the Raider grapplers snared first place in the Livingston County Tournament for the third consecutive year. With an average of 36 points per match, CMCS easily rolled over each succeeding opponent. An ever-increasing army of faithful fans followed the Raiders to their most distant host school. Another fine season was brought to a close with an exceptional showing in the section finals.

Although disparaging fans predicted that the loss of six Seniors would hurt our record, the CMCS basketball team proved otherwise. Close-knit camaraderie caused these young men to jell as a unit on the court, and to once again forge toward a sectional berth. With only Geneseo standing in our path, we rose to astounding heights in our efforts to put them out of the running.

Motivated by the leadership of Captain Tom Bonacquisti and under the guidance of Coach Frank Ruane, the Raiders dribbled their way to another fine season.

Bouncing back admirably from a nearly winless season the previous year, the Varsity baseball team battled its way to a Sectional berth and an even record in 1969. In one of the most thrilling games ever witnessed by CMCS fans, the Raiders, led by the tireless arm of Dick Elkins, battled Honeoye Falls for thirteen innings before going down to defeat 5 to 4.

Coach Ed Matthews

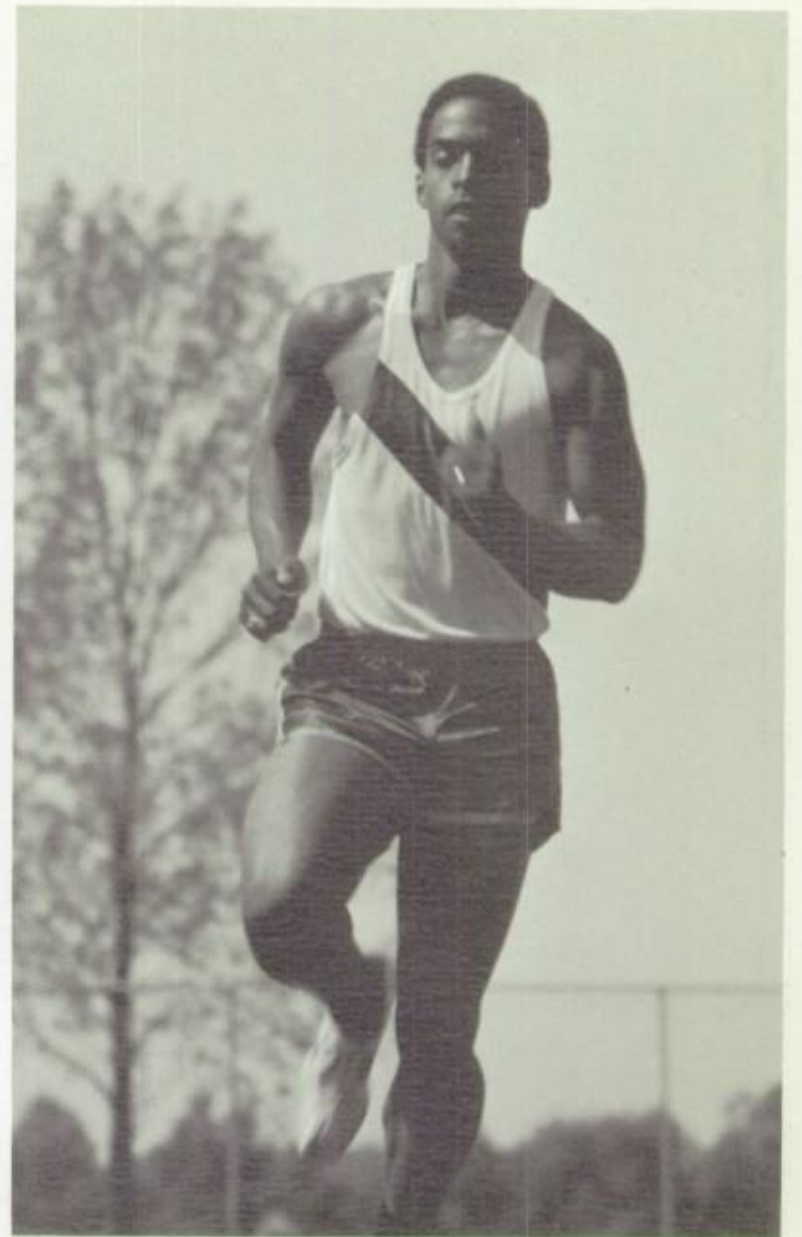

Contributing to the success of the CMCS cindermen in their third year of organization were the rugged leadership of their coach and the fact that they have some of the finest track and field facilities in the area. Although this sport's season spans little over a month, it, nevertheless, demands that the individual tax his physical stamina to its limit. Only desire can tone up the flabby muscles developed during the winter. Pride operates in two-fold—that which surrounds personal achievement and that which results from benefiting the team as a unit.

CMCS' annual journey to the Batavia Relays was viewed worthwhile when we snatched third place. The County Meet on May 27 hosted by CMCS saw us finish fifth. A respectable 8-6 overall record was compiled for the year.

Seniors

Mike soars through the air in an ever-renewed attempt to better his broad jump record. Mike was also CMCS' runner in the 880 yard slot.

Marvin sprints forward, his eyes riveted on the finish line. Marvin represented CMCS in the 100 yard and the 220 yard dashes.

Greg's mind concentrates on aiming high as he leaps over one of the 180 yard low hurdles. Greg also ran in the 100 yard and the 220 yard dashes and the relay races.

Rick's body tenses as he prepares to hurl the shot far into the distance.

Because of a photographic error, Senior Rick Range is not pictured. Rick participated in the shot put and the discus.

Golf—1969

The CMCS golfers captured the Livingston County championship this year for the third consecutive time. Determination and long expensive hours of practice combined once again to form an award-winning team.

This year the tennis team broke out of its initial year's slump with a 6-9 record on the court. Squad members are young and have acquired a great deal of experience which should be beneficial to CMCS next year.

The initial step in the production of a yearbook is the selection of a color liner pertinent to the theme that is trying to be conveyed. Our theme was taken from a popular song "Sunrise Sunset" from the Broadway show Fiddler on the Roof that speaks of how swiftly children grow to be adults. In keeping with our theme, we chose a sunset scene taken in the vicinity for our liner.

Because the expensive gold seal on the cover of last year's Ainodelac had been purchased as a representation of the school, it was decided to retain it on the cover of the 1970 yearbook.

As we planned the pages of the yearbook throughout the autumn, we came to the conclusion that pictures mean more to students if they are taken in an informal manner. Thus, we tried to stress casual backgrounds for our group pictures.

As a general rule, the divider pages that introduce each section of the yearbook bear some relationship to the theme. Since the Senior section introduces the book, we tried to progress from morning through afternoon to night in the subject matter of our divider pages in order to parallel our theme.

At the completion of the Ainodelac in mid-February, we hope we have satisfied a majority of the student body. Our feeling is that the seemingly endless hours spent on the production of the yearbook will reap benefits for us when the finished product arrives.

Memorable Moments

Acknowledgment

As we reach the realization of a goal representative of the Class of 1970, we are compelled to offer our appreciation to a small number of people who have made our success possible.

Mrs. Judith Cicoria, our new adviser, has opened the doorway to innovative ideas which we have employed in our Ainodelac. Her patience and understanding have been valued throughout our stint as editors.

Mrs. Mary Minster, the high school secretary, has proved indispensable in our efforts to create a yearbook. Her cooperative, friendly manner has encouraged us at the times of our darkest moments.

Finally, we acknowledge Lucille Walkup and Marthina Williams. Lucy prepared our most illegible copy for printing, and Marty typed nearly all the copy for the Ainodelac.

"Picture days" did not involve work all the time.

Varden photographer Mr. Stanley Young was responsible for the majority of our inventive ideas in the production of the yearbook.

The publication of a school paper is usually a basic on the roster of extracurricular activities. The Newsblazer at CMCS has long served the purpose of keeping the student body abreast of club progress, up-coming social functions, and the status of the athletic teams. Humor, editorial comment, and reviews are sprinkled at random throughout the factual material.

Because of a limited budget and production problems, the Newsblazer is only put out on a monthly basis. Therefore, it is a frequent complaint with its readers that much of the news is "stale". Staff members are working diligently to rid the paper of this shortcoming. Despite its flaws, the Newsblazer continues to be an award-winning publication. Thanks to the imaginative hand of Julie Randall, the Newsblazer won first place in Artwork and Production at Syracuse University for the second consecutive year in the category of mimeographed papers.

Standing: Jocelyn Hilliard, Daniel Reid, Gregory Buckley, Beverly Jackson, Michael Freeman, Kevin Cochran. Seated: Stephen Roberts, Kathleen Stella, Nanette Fenton, Sherry Pullyblank, Gregory Geer, William Gillen, Timothy Harrington, Carolyn Smith, Randall Vanelli.

Frequently an object of severe criticism, the Student Council has weathered another year and, throughout its course, has effected the establishment of (hopefully) several institutions.

In the fall the Student Council members launched a campaign within their respective classes to bring Homecoming, a tradition already adopted by many surrounding schools, to CMCS. Their efforts bore fruit and Homecoming promises to be absorbed by the social scheme of football season.

The controversial reform of the age-old dress code at CMCS was backed by the Student Council and was actively endorsed by way of petitions submitted to the administration and discussions with faculty members.

To guarantee the preservation of communication between students and faculty, a special student committee was selected within the Student Council to meet with a special faculty committee to discuss pertinent academic and social problems existent at the high school level. Also the classes have been encouraged to have the minutes of each Student Council meeting read at their respective class meetings and thereby keep abreast of the activities of their student government.

Boys' State

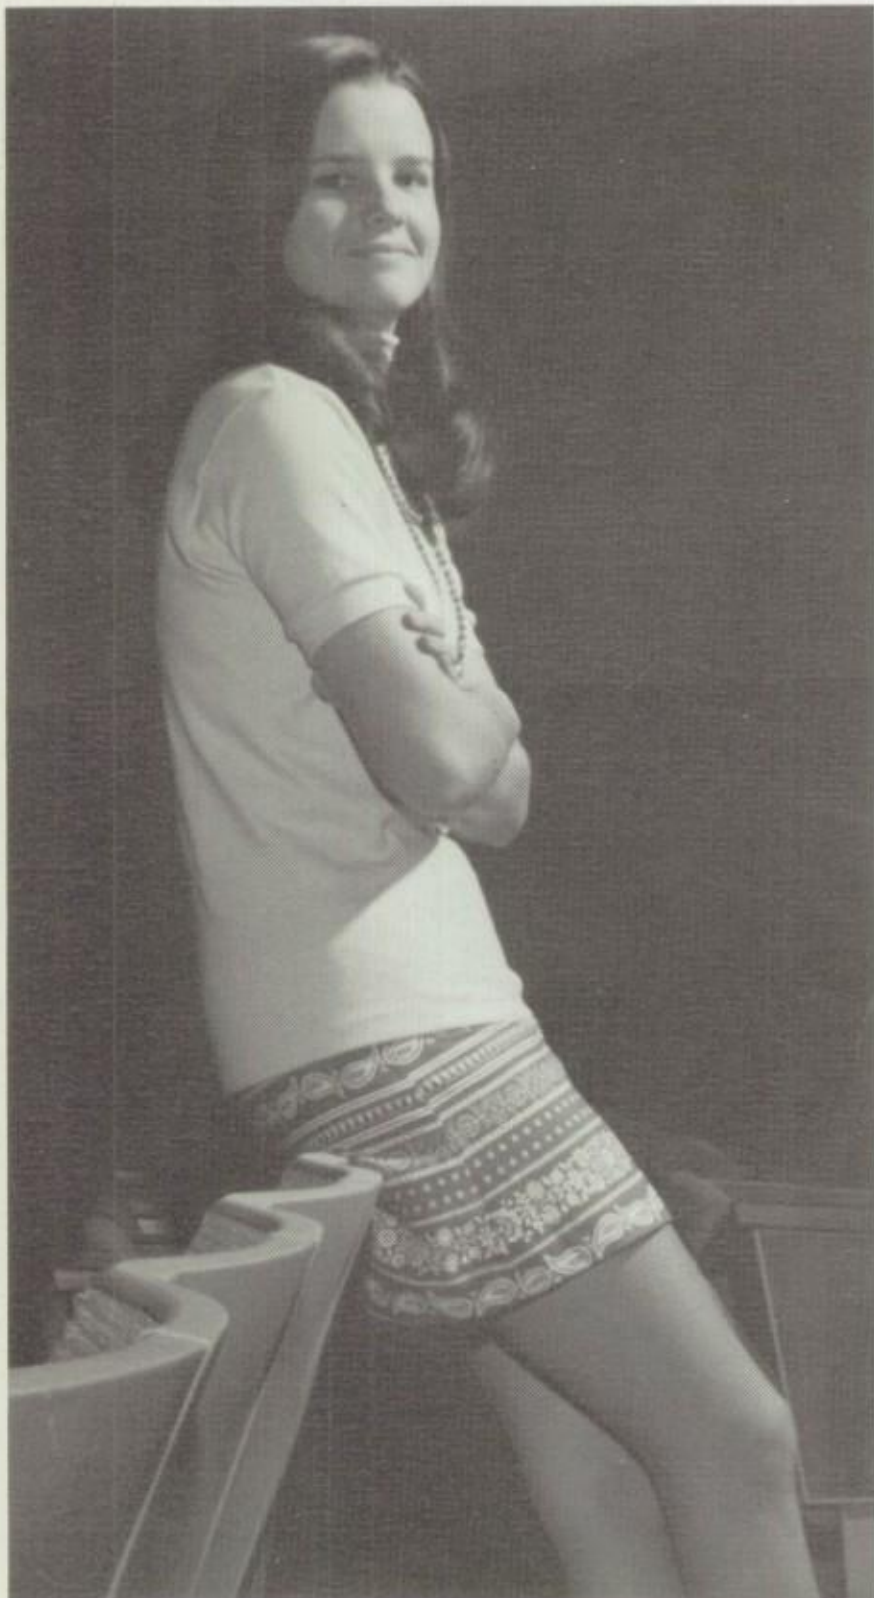

Sponsored by the American Legion, Empire Boys' State is designed to present the mechanics of government at city, county, and state levels to a representative group of boys from across the state. During the final week of June, 1968, a thousand legislators of the future assembled at Morrisville Technical College to receive a lesson in democracy which hopefully will better prepare them for their future role as voters. Boys' State also serves to mold tolerant individuals who quickly adapt to the idiosyncrasies of others.

Girls' State

Mike Freeman—Tom Krenzer

Empire Girls' State is similar to its male counterpart in that it acquaints girls with the framework of our nation's government at all levels. Girls selected on the basis of character and scholastic standing congregated on the beautiful campus of the State University of New York at Albany for a week at the end of June, 1968. Within the warm circle of friendship, they formed a mythical 51st state and held assorted rallies and caucuses. The American Legion Auxiliary was responsible for affording the girls with a political experience.

Future Teachers of America is an organization which attempts to train students to meet the ever-increasing demand for educators. As a member, one is offered practical experience in teaching, in grading of papers, and in preparing work projects on either the elementary or high school level. Members also participate in fund-raising campaigns designed to raise money for the FTA scholarship fund. Just prior to graduation each year this award is made to the senior FTA'er who shows the most promise of succeeding in the field of education.

The Senior Chorus has upheld high musical standards at CMCS for years. Revolution marked its public appearances this year. However, the highlight of the season was the candlelight processional and concert at Christmas consisting entirely of familiar carols. Plans are in the works for another musical next year.

For years the hallmark of the CMCS Senior Band has been excellence. Whether on parade or in concert, members capably combine their respective talents to produce melodic refrains of music. Often you spend half your time just trying to get the darned skis on!

The Ski Club has blossomed from a tiny knot of frightened snow pioneers four years ago to an organization teeming with enterprising young ski enthusiasts today. For eight weeks club members lived only for Thursday on which day they would deck themselves in thermal underwear, pack the bus with skis, poles, and boots, and set off on another trek to Bristol Mountain. In a matter of about ninety minutes, they were once again streaking freely across the glistening powder.

"Hey, how come this boot won't fit over eight pair of socks?"

Getting on the chair lift requires a concentrated effort—it's so humiliating when you miss!

Delicate crepe streamers of pale blue, violet, and orchid produced an initial effect of dreaminess as we entered "Fantasia", our memorable Junior Prom, on the eve of May 24, 1969.

Suspended from the ceiling were five wire spheres covered entirely with fragile flowers of tissue paper that were the painstaking handiwork of a number of class members.

The creative hand of Julie Randall was responsible for the most striking elements of the decor. Five picturesque seascapes of burlap illuminated by a blue floodlight adorned one wall and augmented the fanciful mood of the atmosphere.

At eleven o'clock the members of the court assembled on the immaculate bridge of white at the center of the gym. Their excited faces were mirrored in the clear bubbling water before them. Amidst the gentle fragrance of the lilacs that enshrouded the fountain, each couple glided gracefully up the red carpet to the flower-dotted crepe latticework that backgrounded the stage. The coronation of Gregory Buckley and Alice Flynn as prince and princess consummated our evening of elegance.

The theme of the Class of '71's float was "Wamp 'Em". The huge papier-mache Raider Indian perched behind the goalpost was a product of Junior ingenuity and Li'l Abner's statue of Jubilation T. Cornpone. Multicolored napkins were used to create a floral effect in the backdrop for the love seat upon which Kathy rode.

The crucial grid-iron clash between the Caledonia-Mumford Red Raiders and the Avon Braves on the crisp autumn evening of October 10, 1969 was an apt setting for the first homecoming at CMCS. Float entries from grades 7-12 paraded around the track during half-time of the football game to the gay accompaniment of the marching band. A committee of teachers judged the floats on originality of theme, degree of school spirit conveyed, and general design. A plaque was awarded to the winning float.

Each high school class also selected a Homecoming Queen candidate. The entire student body then voted to select a queen representative of the whole school.

At the conclusion of the game a reception was held in the high school cafeteria for alumni and friends. Homecoming was heralded a success.

Homecoming at CMCS

The seventh graders captured the float plaque with their cornfield scene featuring Indians dancing around an Avon Brave being burned at the stake.

The freshmen decorated their float "Blast Off With The Spirit of '73" with a rocket enshrouded with pink and white flowers. Their queen candidate was Cathy Buckley.

Senior queen candidate Linda Fortner and alternate Mary Harmon rode atop the Class of '70's float, whose theme was graduation.

The cynosure of the eighth grade's float was a striking scoreboard reading "Time 0:01; Visitor 0—Home 74."

A large casket with several Avon Braves dangling over its side comprised "Bury Avon", the float of the class of '72. Maralyn Roberts was their queen candidate.

Mrs. O'Leary explicitly sets forth to Dean her requirements for a husband.

The Caledonia-Mumford high school auditorium was the scene of the comedy presentation of Everybody's Getting Married, the Senior play of the Class of 1970, at 8:00 p.m. on the evening of November 21, 1969.

The plot revolves around Reginald D'Arcy who is set to inherit one million dollars from his Aunt Agatha who specified in her will that within one month he must find spouses for the six women who were left husbandless at the time of her death. Aunt Agatha had been the owner, clerk, and sole matchmaker of her matrimonial bureau. If Reginald fails to meet these terms, the money will be given to the Home for Destitute Cats.

Dean Garrett, Reggie's dear friend, is more than happy to take on this task—for the small fee of $50,000. So Dean sets about trying to marry off a curious mixture of spinsters and widows to any males he can get his hands on.

of "Tristeza"

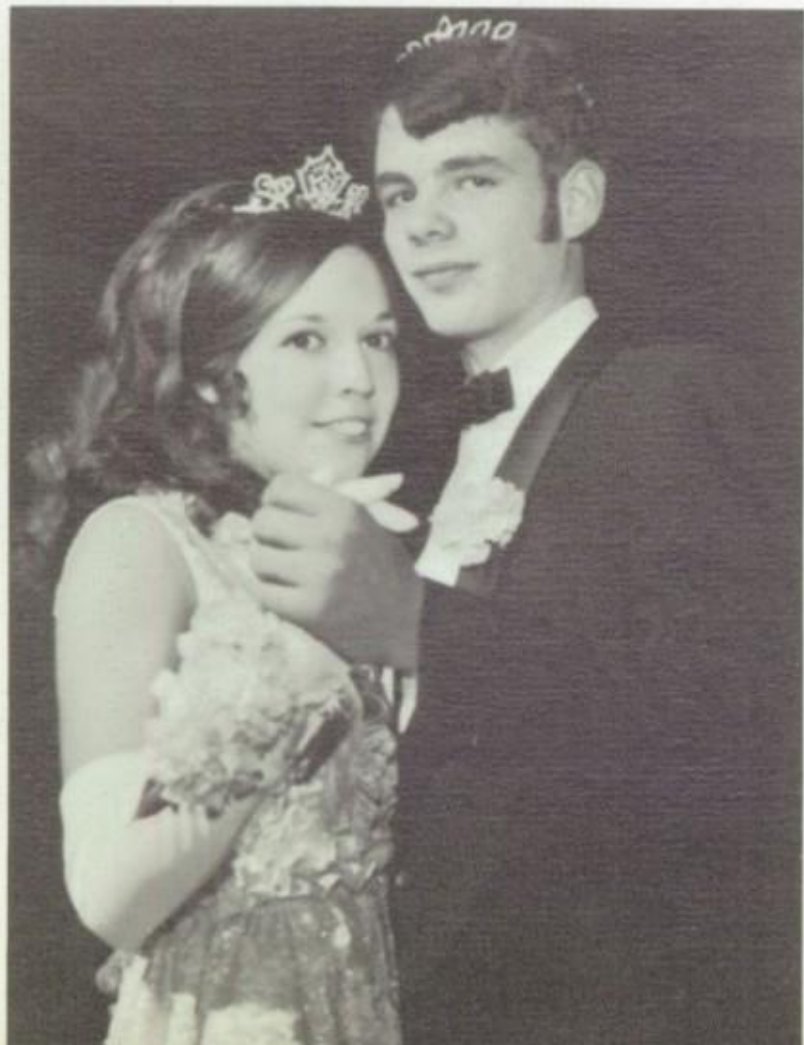

The quiet seclusion of a private table gives the illusion that the Ball is being put on exclusively for your benefit.

A rustic, wintry scene was the background for "Tristeza", our Senior Ball, on the night of December 27, 1969. "Tristeza", meaning "Good-bye Sadness", is taken from the Spanish language.

We entered over a bridge beneath a crepe archway, and our eyes were instantly caught by the kaleidoscopic glitterings of the center chandelier which consisted of garlands of tinsel and strands of pearls. A silver-blue spotlight focusing on the chandelier added a romantic illusion to the atmosphere.

Wide bands of royal blue, light blue, and golden crepe paper encircled the tables of couples who conversed intimately in the candlelight shed from goblets glazed with gold. The evening was climaxed at eleven o'clock when the members of the court mounted the stage through a crepe curtain of royal blue to await the exciting announcement. Ed and Carol were named our king and queen.

A hushed audience watches the newly-crowned royalty, King Ed and Queen Carol, lead off the coronation waltz.

Much more enjoyment is derived from the evening if one is an expert dancer.

As our senior year draws to a close, we find that words are inadequate to express our feelings. Choked with paradoxical emotions—wistful reluctance to leave the security of our alma mater and optimistic anticipation of the future —we can only wish that members of succeeding classes will realize the dreams of youth before graduating. For the sands of time all too swiftly slip through one's fingers, and thus the happiest days of one's life are gone forever.

We, the members of the Class of 1970, would like to express our appreciation to the people who have shown faith in us through the years and without whom the production of this book would be impos-

"Seedlings turn overnight to sunflowers"

lossoming even as we gaze . . .”

As we come to the conclusion of a wonderful high school career, we realize that we will have a parting of ways not only with those who remain behind, but also with our own classmates. The words of an anonymously authored poem entitled An Irish Prayer aptly express our sentiments in our good-bye wish to each other and to all of you:

May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face, the rains fall soft upon your fields, and until we meet again.

May God hold you in the palm of his hand.
